* Most of the churches of New England, for some time after the settlement of the country, had, besides a pastor and a teacher, and two or more deacons, a ruling elder, or ruling elders, whose "business," says the author of Ratio Disciplinae, "it was to assist the pastor in visiting the distressed, instructing the ignorant, reducing the erroneous, comforting the afflicted, rebuking the unruly, discovering the state of the whole flock, exercising the discipline of the gospel upon offenders, and promoting the desirable growth of the church."

The name of but one Ruling Elder is mentioned in the Records of the Old South Church. This does not prove, however, that none others were ever chosen. There is no mention in the records of any Deacon having been chosen till Nov. 1685; but we know that the church had not been till that time without Deacons.

† In the early periods of the New England churches, the Deacons were ordained with prayer, and the laying on of the hands of the pastor.

Rules of the Old South Church in Boston in relation to the admission and dismission of Members.

MARCH 27, 1823. Voted, That hereafter the following shall be the method of proceeding in relation to applications for admission to this church on dismission and recommendation from other churchees, viz: The applicants shall be conversed with by the pastor for the purpose of ascertaining whether they approve of the covenant, and are disposed to conform to the faith and government of this church, and their letters of dismission and recommendation shall be examined and approved by the committee already appointed for that purpose, agreeably to a vote of this church passed Jan. 1, 1816. If the pastor and the committee are satisfied with the results of their examinations, the names of the applicants shall be mentioned, as applying for admission to this church on dismission and recommendation from other churches, at the same times at which persons applying for admission on profession are propounded. At the expiration of a fortnight from the time of their application being thus mentioned before the congregation, if no objection to their admission has, in the mean time, been stated to the pastor, their testimonials shall be read to the church and the vote taken upon their application, immediately before the usual proceedings in relation to the admission of those who are to be received on profession.

Voted, That in conformity with the spirit of a resolution adopted by this church Jan. 1, 1816,—it be a standing rule of this church, that members, who shall absent themselves from the communion of this church and associate in attendance on divine ordinances with other churches, be expected to apply for a dismission from this church in order to their regular admission to the churches with which they stately worship and commune, within two years from the time of their thus ceasing regularly to commune with this church, or sooner if convenient; and that when members of this church so worshipping and communing stately with other churches, shall not apply for a dismission till after the expiration of two years from the time of their ceasing regularly to attend on Christian ordinances with this church, they be required to accompany their application for a dismission and recommendation with a certificate, from the pastor, and when there is no pastor, from one of the other officers of the church with which they have been in the habit of communing and to which they wish to be recommended, testifying to their correct deportment since they have worshipped and communed with said church.

Voted, That members of other churches who shall stately attend worship and communion with this church, be expected and desired to obtain a dismission and recommendation from the churches of which they are members to this church, within two years, or sooner if convenient, from the time of beginning thus regularly to attend Christian ordinances with this church.

MARCH 1, 1827. Voted, That the names of persons whom the pastor intends, from time to time, to be propounded to the church, be mentioned to the brethren and sisters of the church at a meeting at least a fortnight before the time of their being publicly propounded from the pulpit on the Sabbath.

COVENANT.

The CONFESsION OF FAITH of the Old South Church is that "owned and consented unto by the Elders and Messengers of the Churches assembled at Boston, May 12, 1680," of which all its pastors, since that time, have been required to signify their approbation, previously to their admission to the church in preparation for their ordination or installation; and a profession of belief in the fundamental doctrines of which, is received from candidates, and announced to the brethren, by the pastor, previous to admission to membership.

The following form of COVENANT was adopted Nov. 3, 1769, and is the present Covenant of this church.

YOU DO NOW, in the presence of God, and before his holy angels, and this assembly, solemnly profess to give up yourself, to GOD THE FATHER, as your chief good,—to THE SON OF GOD, as your Mediator, Head and Lord, relying upon Him as the Prophet, Priest and King of your salvation,—to THE HOLY SPIRIT OF GOD, as your Sanctifier, Guide and Comforter, to be a temple for Him to dwell in.—You profess to give up yourself to this ONE GOD, who is the Father, Son, and Holy Ghost, in an EVERLASTING COVENANT, TO LOVE, OBEY AND SERVE HIM FOREVER.

You also promise to walk with this Church of Christ, in a due submission to, and attendance upon, all the orders and ordinances of the Gospel; and that, by the help of the Spirit, you will adorn this your profession, by a holy, blameless, fruitful life and conversation.

This you do promise?

We also do, by the help of the same Spirit, promise you, that we will carry it towards you, as towards those brought up with us in the fellowship of the saints. We will watch over you, not for your halting, but for your edification. We will counsel, reprove, comfort, and exhort you, as your circumstances, and our acquaintance therewith, shall require.

This sacred covenant has been deliberately entered into, and its high obligations voluntarily assumed, by every member of this church. Those obligations are now, and will be until death, upon every one who has assumed them; for he that "openeth his mouth unto the LORD, cannot go back." See Judg. xi, 35. Luke ix, 62. Heb. x, 38, 39. 2 Pet. ii, 20, 21. This holy covenant has been renewed by every member of this church, every time he has partaken of the Lord's Supper; for every participation of that ordinance, is a renewed ratification of the covenant between the professed believer and Christ, of which the Savior has declared that sacrament to be a seal, Luke xxii, 20; and a renewal of the ratification of a covenant, of course, implies a renewal of the covenant itself.

To assist the members of this church, in keeping in mind their covenant engagements, the following hints were, in conformity with a vote of the brethren, prepared in 1826, by the then pastor, Rev. B. B. Wisner, to be printed with the covenant.

1. Give a diligent and devout attention to the Covenant, whenever it is publicly proposed to candidates for admission to the church, recollecting as each article is repeated, that you have solemnly entered into that engagement.

2. Attend regularly, except when necessarily prevented, upon the holy communion. Examine yourself carefully, in your private preparation for this service, in relation to each article of the Covenant, humbly confessing to God the deficiencies you discover, and supplicating forgiveness through the blood of Christ; and then, in your closet, solemnly renew your engagements with God as expressed in the Covenant, earnestly praying for grace to keep it more faithfully in future. Let a part of the evening preceding each administration of the Lord's Supper, if possible, be occupied in this manner. And when you come to the communion, recollect, among other things, that you are renewing the ratification of your covenant with God and with your brethren.

3. Regard the holy Scriptures, in your daily reading of them as "the book of the covenant" which you have made with the Most High—exhibiting the duties, to God and man, which you have engaged to perform, and the blessings you may expect to receive from God, if you are faithful to your engagements. See Exod. xxiv, 7.

4. Often reflect, and strive to have it deeply impressed on your mind, that you have taken God, angels and men, to witness that you have "given yourself up to Jehovah in an everlasting covenant, to love, obey and serve him forever;" that God, and angels, and men, are observing how you fulfil these engagements; that religion will be honored or dishonored, and the salvation of those around you, yet in impenitence, promoted or hindered, by your faithfulness or unfaithfulness to your vows; and that the Covenant you have taken, and so often virtually renewed, will be one of the tests to be applied to your character in the day of judgment.

5. Endeavor, as far as paramount duties will permit, to cultivate a Christian acquaintance with your brethren. And when in their company, converse frequently upon the things pertaining to the kingdom of God; and particularly of your duties and obligations as the covenant people of God. See Mal. iii, 16. Heb. x, 24. and iii, 13. "This practice," says one, "would be of eminent service to help the memory, in regard to our covenant obligations, as also to quicken unto obedience. Thus, for instance, when a brother is observed to be going into temptation, or in present danger of falling into some transgression, it is not improbable that these words, spoken in a suitable manner, in his hearing, REMEMBER YOUR COVENANT, would prevent his fall; or, if he has already fallen, it may be those words would be the means of recovering him out of the snare of the devil, and of bringing him unto unfeigned repentance."

6. While you expect justification and all the blessings of salvation, solely on account of the righteousness of Christ, and trust in Him alone for grace to fulfil your covenant engagements, endeavor habitually and practically to remember that his obedience unto death has not released believers from their obligations to personal holiness; that it has not diminished, but greatly increased those obligations. See Isa. lxiv, 6. Rom. iii, 20. Phil. iii, 8, 9. Rom. vi. 2 Cor. v, 14, 15.

7. In your daily secret prayers, entreat your covenant-keeping God to fulfil to you that gracious promise recorded in Jer. xxxi, 33, putting his law, the rule of the Covenant, in your inward parts, and writing it in your hearts,—"that He would make it ready and familiar to you, at hand when you have occasion to use it, as that which is written in the heart; that he would work in you a strong disposition to obedience, and an exact conformity of thought and affection to the rules of the divine law, as that of the copy to the original."

REMARK. Owing to the possession of the town by the British troops in 1775 and 1776, to the demolition of the internal part of the house of worship, with the death of one of the ministers, and dismission of the other, the members of the Old South Church were dispersed, and did not assemble again in a church state, by themselves, until November, 1777.

ARTICLE IX. The Clerk shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of his duties by a Justice of the Peace, immediately after his election, and his oath shall be recorded, with his own signature thereto, and that of the magistrate, in the Records of the Corporation. The Clerk shall notify all meetings of the Corporation, and of the Standing Committee; he shall attend the meetings of each, and keep separate records of their transactions, which shall always be open for the inspection of every Proprietor. ARTICLE X. He shall keep just and accurate books, showing the accounts of the Corporation, and its receipts and expenditures, which books shall always be open to the inspection of every proprietor. He shall collect and receive all taxes, rents, income, and debts due and payable to the Corporation; he shall pay the salary of the minister or ministers, and all accounts and demands against the Corporation when approved by the Standing Committee, and also all drafts on him drawn or authorized by that Committee; he shall pay annually to the Deacons, for the use of the poor, the sum of six hundred dollars. All deeds of pews sold by the Corporation or by any proprietor, and all leases of any of the Real Estate of the Corporation, shall be made in its name, sealed with its seal, and executed, and (when necessary) acknowledged by the Treasurer in its behalf, and countersigned by the Clerk. The leases shall be in such form as the Standing Committee shall direct, and the deeds shall be recorded by the Treasurer in a book to be kept for that purpose. The Treasurer shall not make a deed or transfer of any pew without the previous direction of the Standing Committee so to do. Whenever any pew shall be advertised for sale for non-payment of taxes, the Treasurer shall advertise the same,—and shall charge for so doing twenty-five cents; if sold, he shall attend the sale thereof, and shall charge a commission of two and a half per cent, on the proceeds of sale, and such fees and commissions shall be accounted for by him as moneys of the Corporation. The Treasurer shall exhibit to the Standing Committee whenever thereto required, full statements of the financial concerns of the Corporation, and, when requested, shall attend the meetings of that Committee. He shall make and exhibit a complete settlement of his books and accounts annually, and as much oftener as required by any vote of the Corporation or Standing Committee. All his accounts shall be audited by the Standing Committee. He shall render an account of his doings to the Corporation annually.

ARTICLE XI. No deed shall be issued for any pew sold by one person to another, until all taxes that may be due thereon, have been paid; and the owners of pews shall be holden for all taxes assessed on such pews. All deeds of pews shall be in the following form:

Hundred and —.

I, the above named A B, do hereby freely acknowledge, that I receive the above-mentioned pew and the conveyance thereof upon the conditions aforesaid, and if I, or my legal representatives, shall neglect or refuse to keep or perform all, any, or either of them, the said Pew shall be forfeited to said Corporation, as above expressed. In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand, the day and year above-mentioned.

ARTICLE XII. No alteration of any Pew shall be made without the permission of the Standing Committee.

ARTICLE XIII. This Corporation shall have a common seal, to be kept by the Treasurer, bearing the words and Figures, "Old South Society in Boston. Inc. March, 1845."

ARTICLE XIV. The Taxes on each Pew shall be paid in quarter-yearly payments; and if not paid with interest at the end of the fourth quarter, all the estate and interest of the delinquent proprietor of any such pew, shall be forfeited to this Corporation, and be sold by the Treasurer by public auction, after he shall have been directed by the Standing Committee so to do, and shall have given the notice described in the thirty-third section of the twentieth chapter of the Revised Statutes. But if such proprietor shall, before the day of sale, pay all such taxes, and interest thereon from the time of the assessment thereof, and all incidental charges and expenses, such sale shall not be made, nor the rights of such proprietor be affected by such forfeiture.

ARTICLE XV. The Sexton shall deliver all notices for meetings of the Standing Committee; shall open the Meeting House at the usual time for Divine Worship, and also the Meeting House and Chapel whenever directed by the Standing Committee; he shall keep the same and the sidewalks in front thereof in good order; he shall perform all the duties appertaining to his office, and shall obey all orders of the Standing Committee.

ARTICLE XVI. The Church shall have the precedence in the election of any minister or ministers of the Gospel; and their election, if concurred in by this Corporation, shall be complete and valid.

ARTICLE XVII.
